SAQ's ethics

To all agents and suppliers

Holiday season

For the Holiday season, you may want to show your appreciation to the SAQ employees by offering different kinds of presents. When they receive gifts, the employees are placed in embarrassing situations, because they should decline all gifts received.

Like stipulated in our Code of Ethics for Employees and according with our government corporation status, soliciting and receiving advantages are prohibited. By accepting gifts, we act contrary to our values and it may compromise our professional integrity.

You may be assured that our staff will appreciate quite as much your good wishes as a token of gratitude!
